EIGHTH ANNUAL FESTIVAL CONCLUDES

The eighth annual Crow's Nest Pass Musical Festival came to a successful conclusion last night, when the spacious Columbus hall was packed to standing room by an audience of music lovers, representing all towns in southern Alberta and southern British Columbia.

Upwards of 200 entries were recorded, and competition in all events were keen, giving the adjudicators, Mr. P. L. Newcombe, of Calgary, and Mr. Arthur J. Talbot, of Vancouver, no easy task.

All performances, mornings, afternoons and nights, were well attended. Following completion of the programme, at 10.30 last night, the audience was addressed briefly by Mr. Newcombe, who, while commending the people of The Pass for their interest in the festival and the number and ability of those performing, stressed the need of greater interest in adult choirs. Following Mr. Newcombe's remarks, prizes were awarded in the form of certificates, cups and shields.

The complete list of winners will appear in our next issue.

GOLFERS RE-ORGANIZE

At the annual meeting of the Crow's Nest Pass Golf and Country Club, held at the Greenhill hotel on Wednesday night of last week, Mayne Farmer, of Blairmore, was chosen president. Other officers include: G. Emerson, Bellevue, vice-president; G. Thornton, Hillcrest, second vice-president; W. L. Eppson, Coleman, secretary-treasurer; George Pattinson (Coleman), Sarge Jones (Blairmore), J. A. McLeod (Coleman) and W. W. Scott (Blairmore), committee.

For the ladies' section, the following officers were chosen: Mrs. J. A. Kerr, captain; Mrs. A. R. Granger, vice-captain; Mrs. M. G. Rhynas, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. J. R. Smith, Mrs. J. E. Gillis, Mrs. G. Pattinson and Miss Margaret Stevenson, competition committee; Mrs. Farmer, handicap committee; and Mrs. L. L. Morgan, social committee.

SCOUT NEWS

The scouts of the Crow's Nest Pass are anxiously waiting for fine weather to carry out field-work tests and roam the hillsides with glee.

Each Tuesday evening, Mr. G. A. Vissac very kindly displays to the scouts a very interesting programme with his private cinema, and all very eagerly look forward to it's event.

Last Monday, the Wolf Cubs, accompanied by a few scouts, had a picnic to Burnis, to complete some field work, together with sports as part of their daily programme. Unfortunately the weather interfered and spoiled the programme; nevertheless, with the assistance of Mr. Norton, very ably set about to get the use of a hall for the conclusion of the day's programme. Everyone joined in the fun of the day, with boxing and wrestling contests between Hillcrest and Blairmore, and, most peculiar to relate, the results in each case were a draw.

Some very considerate persons, whose name, we regret to say, we did not get to know, sure "did a good turn" that day, by sending to the hall a pair of hot, steaming coffee, which with the boys' lunches, everyone was O.K. and "Never mind the weather."

The Scouts and Cubs thank the giver of the hot coffee and hope the kindness may be repaid many fold. In spite of disappointing weather, everyone is looking forward to another hike in the very near future.

The estate of the late Sir Clifford Sifton is being used by Ontario for $1,533,000 in death duties.

B. AIRMORE GIRL GUIDES

It is intended to form a branch of Girl Guides in Blairmore, and mothers who are interested are asked to attend a meeting on Friday next at 8 p.m., in the Scouts' headquarters, opposite the Greenhill hotel.

Mrs. Borden, wife of Dr. B. Borden, of Coleman, will outline the programme at the meeting and render any assistance desired by the new Blairmore branch.

Parents who are interested in the future welfare of their girls, please attend without further invitation. The Girl Guides are non-sectarian and non-political, the chief object being to develop good citizenship, through a good training, including first aid, respect and loyalty to parents and others, do a good turn every day, to someone, guide, self-respect and numerous details which tend to develop the moral, and build up an environment with which they will be proud to associate.

MINERS AGAINST

CUT IN WAGES

Decision was reached at the "united front" action convention of mine workers' meeting in Lethbridge last week, to open negotiations with the operators everywhere on a basis of no reduction whatever in wages, and if these negotiations fail the convention endorsed the calling of a general strike ballot against any wage reductions on April 11. The convention concluded Wednesday evening and Thursday morning the district convention of the Workers' Unity League opened in Bargman's hall.

The convention, sponsored by the Mine Workers' Union of Canada, pledged its support to the Crow's Nest strike and in a wire to Premier J. E. Brownlee demanded the immediate withdrawal of the mounted police, said to be concentrated in the strike area. The wire to the premier follows:

"Western Canada miners in convention assembled protest against the shipping into the strike field of Crow's Nest Pass over thirty Mounties to intimidate miners. We demand the immediate removal of these uniformed thugs who shoot down our brothers in Estevan."

"C" DIVISION POLICE

GET TOGETHER

Inspector Bavin presided at a banquet held in the Hudson Bay dining room at Calgary on Saturday last, the final get-together of the two forces, the Mounties and Alberta Provincial police. At the banquet, a moment's silence was observed in memory of "Our Fallen Comrades." The fallen comrades of the division were: Constable F. E. Bailey, killed with Corporal Usher, R.C.M.P., at Bellevue on August 7th, 1920, following the notorious Bayview train holdup; Constable C. E. Osgood, shot in a boot-egging raid at Kinuso on January the 24th, 1922; Constable S. O. Lawson, shot and killed by Picariello at Coleman on September, 1921. The toast to the Alberta Provincial Police Force was proposed by Col. Sanders and responded to by Superintendent W. F. W. Hancock. "Newspapers," said Inspector Bavin, in proposing a toast to "The Press," "are capable of making or breaking nations. They should be utilized for the protection of society. We are fortunate in having men as editors who realize their grave responsibility and endeavor to act in the interests of social advancement and protection."

RESTFUL SLEEP for FRETFUL, FEVERISH CHILD

—With Castoria's regulation

When your child tosses and cries out in his sleep, it means he is not comfortable. Very often the trouble is that poisonous waste matter is not being carried off as it should be. Bowels need help—mild, gentle help—but effective. Just the kind Castoria gives. Castoria is a pure vegetable preparation made specially for children's ailments. It contains no harsh, harmful drugs or narcotics. Don't let your child's rest—and your own—be interrupted. A prompt dose of Castoria will urge sluggish little bowels to act. Then relaxed comfort and restful sleep. Genuine Castoria always has the name:

Down in certain mountain regions of the American South the natives go barefoot much of the time. There is a story told about a young couple who were preparing to go to a party in a nearby hamlet. The husband having finished dressing stood aside in order that his wife might inspect him. Surveying him from head to foot, she said: "I don't see why you hate so to go to parties, Elmer. Weakness Of Co-Education

Professor Saye Co-Educ Have Fahl Attraction For Men Students Although Dr. Hamilton Fyfe, principal of Queen's University, is inclined to agree with the opinion that women are a "sort of nuisance around a university," he declared emphatically that Queen's did not contemplate the erection of any barriers to co-education.

In fact, he said, some of the best students at the university are co-eds. However, he wished they did not have such a fatal attraction to the men students.

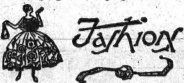

"When the students leave the classroom following a lecture," he explained, "instead of discussing some of the points in the lecture they have just heard, they promptly pair off and either discuss highlights of the party they attended the night before or make dates for other meetings."

Where Taxes Are Taxes

British People Grin and Pay to Cancel Debts

British taxpayers, faced by an almost unheard of taxation burden, grin and pay. They paid in January and February this year, $200,000,000 more than in the same months last year. At that rate the huge 1931 British deficit will be wiped clean by Jan. 1, 1935, and Britain will be out of the red of despair. And if you think the British taxpayer hasn't paid just remember that a married man with a $5,000 income pays $750 income tax, and an $18,000 tax on a $50,000 income.

How Much Does One See

Quite Possible To View Accident and Miss Intimate Details

There are occasions when evidence is given in accident cases where a witness is pressed for more detail, and we can recall several occasions where the suggestion has been made that said witness was not telling all that took place. It is quite possible that a witness may view an accident and yet fail to see many of the intimate details.

In a general way the witness does see the accident, but when it comes to answering all the questions which are certain to be asked it will be found that the powers of observation have their limitations. How far was the car from the victim when the witness first looked? At what rate was the car travelling? How far did the car go before stopping? When were the brakes applied? It is when specific questions are asked that the witness begins to realize that although he saw the accident, there were many things he did not observe.

Advance Of Aviation

Travels in Seven Days Distance That Formerly Required 35 Months To Negotiate

When the Africa air mail left the London air station, Croydon, England, recently, there travelled with it a man whose journey illustrated in remarkable fashion the advance of aviation manifested in the chain of 57 aerodromes and landing grounds between Cairo and Cape Town.

Thirty-two years ago Major Ewart Grogan, big game hunter and explorer, walked from the Cape to Cairo, taking three years. He toiled through thousands of miles of bush and jungle, frequently distressed by fever bouts brought on by the hardships of the march and the activities of myriads of disease-carrying insects that infested much of the track he followed.

Time and again he was in danger from wild beasts and hostile natives; once a revolt broke out among his porters and he was forced to defend himself with his revolver.

This time Major Grogan went with the air mail, making in seven days the journey that took him 35 months less than a generation ago. He was the first passenger, apart from the members of the small official party which left Croydon on the inaugural flight, to fly through from London to South Africa by the new air route.

Recipes For This Week

(By Betty Barclay)

MINT FUDGE

- 3 cups sugar.
- 1 teaspoon peppermint extract.
- 1 cup milk.
- 2 tablespoons butter.
- 2 squares unsweetened chocolate.
- 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Boil sugar, milk and butter to soft ball stage when tested in cold water. Take from stove. Keep half the syrup liquid over boiling water. Beat other half to cream, add peppermint extract and turn on to buttered platter. To hot syrup add the chocolate grated. Stir until chocolate is melted, beat until creamy, add vanilla and turn over first mixture. Mark into squares. The mint part of the fudge may be tinted with green vegetable coloring.

SPRITOC AND PRUNE MARMALADE

- 1/2 pound apricots.
- 1 cup sugar.
- 1/2 pound prunes.
- 4 cups water.

Wash the prunes and apricots thoroughly and put them in the water to cook overnight. Cook the fruit together for 10 minutes, add the sugar, and simmer until the juice is fairly rich. Pour into hot, clean, jelly glass. Seal.

Voting Or Not Voting

Latter Might Be As Valuable To Community As Former

The right to vote—if it is right—involves the right not to vote—and the exercise of this latter right may, conceivably, be of as much value to the community as the exercise of the former.

There are elections in which the voter who is informed on affairs and honest with himself, finds it difficult or impossible to make a choice. To vote either way, he feels, would be wrong. But of course, one can not expect the leaders of political parties to admit the possibility of any such contingency.—Vancouver Province.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

APRIL 3
GOD IN CREATION

Golden Text: "In the beginning God created the heavens and the earth."

Lesson: Genesis 1:1 to 2:7.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 8.

Explanations and Comments

In the Beginning, God, verses 1, 2.—The first verse of the first chapter of Genesis is the summary, the remainder of the first chapter the detailed account of the creation. In the beginning, God—this is the great pronouncement of this chapter. Before the mountains were brought forth, or even though hadst formed the earth and the world, even from everlasting to everlasting Thou art God, Psalm 90, 2.

"I like the superb organ tones of those primeval words of the primal reason and imagination rest; at the first, before all things, or even creation had issued into the void of space, was the Eternal, the Almighty," book, "In the beginning, God. There Alexander McFadden.

"Light Created: Light and Darkness Separated, verses 3-5.—And God said, Let there be light." "God utters not words of God, yes, hardly a syllable and letter in comparison with the entire creation,"—Martin Luther, "I and there was light."

"The third verse is a surpassing example of sublimity of thought and divine power. And God divided the light from the darkness. A writer in 'The Outlook' bids us read the sublimity of the opening sentences of the Bible with these sentences published in a newspaper from a teacher of one of the new religions: 'The radius of spirit penetrates, and dissolves, and disperses the substance shadows or images of the mortal concept—the counterfactual and the counterfactual universe—and discloses the divinity and spiritual virtues of being.'"

"And God called the light Day, and the darkness Night. The meaning clearly is that God enables man to do for speech and language are all right, but real and material understood God is said to do for himself."—Sime.

"And there was evening and there was morning. Evening is doubtless mentioned here before morning because the Jewish light began at sunset. One day, this 'day' of Genesis has nothing to do with our period of twenty-four hours, nor with a period of centuries. It is a beautiful device—this use of a week of days and nights—to show that creation was not instantaneous. The writer might have introduced any other time measurement. He might have suggested years, or centuries, or eons. But the most convenient, the simplest scale, was the week or days—figure to help us to the thought of continuous creative energy."—John H. Vincent.

"Better to believe that the world was created in six solar days than to doubt whether it was created at all."—W. H. P. Faunt. "The 'spacious firmament on high' with all the blue ethereal sky, and bright, untroubled dome, and shining frame, Their great Original proclaim."—Addison.

The Spell Of Martin-Harvey

Celebrated Actor's Art Comprehends a Unique Range Of Stage Portals

Anyone who has fallen under the spell of Martin-Harvey will grant the fact that the actor is unique. What is the mystery of the source of inspiration from which springs this great actor's art? Is it true that "Man is composed of many egos" and that in the exercise of his art, by an actor, one of these will live before us in the person of the actor who is called up one of these separate identities? It almost seems so. Witness his representation of the subtle, poetic, intangibility of Pellaea, a dream which is life reflected in an intangible shadow and atmosphere of beauty radiated by the artist, not to be remotely considered as a creature of flesh and blood. And the very next night there is Manich, a creature of the hills, a guest of elemental passion, a wild man if ever there was one, confronted with grim realities of life.

There is no trick of temperament in the realization of these two parts so opposite in every respect, side by side, and their presentation is almost proof of dual personalities. Behind and beyond a perfect technique, there is something else. In the case of Sir John Martin-Harvey there is a brain, complex, and intensely sympathetic, which understands life and touches it at many angles. Here is discipline, character, the substance of emotions peculiar to us all, realized and bridled, ready to be unleashed at will. This reveals something of the fabric on which great theatrical art is built, a presupposed tangible achievement.

Sir John Martin-Harvey, with Miss N. de Silva and his London company are in the Danks Building for Music, 3 days, commencing Monday, April 4. Mail orders are now being taken at the office of O. U. Powell, 508 McCullum-Hill Building, Regina.

Why Canadians Kick

Canadians kick at the entertainment provided by United States radio stations, not only because of the monotonous flood of advertising of foreign products and the mournful droning of the crooners, but because of the unblushing way in which United States artists (7) travesty anything that is foreign to their country.

League Membership Dues

China Said To Be In Arrears To The Extent Of $1,900,000

Some countries pay their annual dues to the League of Nations. Others don't. Like any other gentlemen's club, memberships are sometimes in arrears when, as in the case of China and the South American republics, civil wars, revolutions and such domestic annoyances deplete the national treasury. The league, then, is out of luck.

Interesting facts relative to this are disclosed in a return tabled in the senate at the behest of Major-General W. A. Griesbach. It shows, among other things, that Canada at last pays her way—and that hand-somely.

Canada's assessment in 1931 amounted to $212,573, and she paid on the nail. China's was in the neighborhood of $300,000, but the former celestial kingdom has been hard up for a long time. In fact China owes the league $1,900,000 in membership fees, being her consolidated arrears for the past nine years.

The year 1930 was a bad one for the league's collecting agency. No fewer than seven of the nine South American members passed up their dues, four of them—Bolivia, Paraguay, Argentina and Peru—in whole, and three—Uruguay, Chili, and Colombia—in part.

The seven nations of the British Empire who are members of the league regularly pay in their assessments, which amount to exactly 28 per cent of the total. Fifty-five nations of the world are members of the league.

Since 1919 Canada has spent $2,429,244 on the activities of the league, moneys expended on assessments, incidental expenses and delegations.

Poultry On The Farm

One Of The Best Paying Lines Of Farm Effort

Official records show that the poultry population of Canada has doubled each ten years during the period of the past thirty years. Each succeeding period or "low period" for the production of the poultry flock coming to the farmer's rescue. At the present time it can easily be shown that the poultry flock properly bred, housed, and looked after is, from the standpoint of capital investment and feed cost, one of the best paying lines of farm effort. Each succeeding year appears to make it more clear that the farm is the logical place for the development of the poultry industry with respect to both eggs and meat production. The farm flock is a useful medium for the marketing of otherwise unsaleable products in the form of eggs and poultry meat. Banks and loan companies find the farm which has a poultry flock a much better risk than the one which has none.—Dept. of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Worth A Weekly Dollar

The editor of a weekly newspaper in a small town received a subscription renewal from a native son who had moved to another part of the country. The distant subscriber also enclosed 50 cents in postage stamps with a note that read: "Now sit down, write me letters and tell me the news you can't print."

The recognition of the great thing that had come into her life left her a little breathless and shaken. But she did not seek to evade or deny it. The absolute candour of her mind—could even to itself—accepted the truth quite simply and frankly. No false shame that she had, as far as actual fact went, given her love unasked, tempted her to disguise from herself the reality of what had happened. For good or ill, whether Blaise returned her love or no, it was a fact.

But in her inmost heart she believed that he, too, cared—half-fearfully, half-joyfully recognizing the penting force which surged behind the bars of his deliberate aloofness.

True, he had never definitely spoken of his love in so many words, but Lady Anne had supplied the key to his silence. The past still bound him. Alive, Nesta had held him by her beauty; and dead, she still held him with the cords of remorse and unavailing self-reproach—cords which can bind almost as closely as the strands of love.

But for that—
The hot colour surged into Jean's cheeks at the sweet, secret thought which lay behind that "but." Blaise cared for her, needed her, just as she cared for and needed him. To her woman's eyes, newly animated with the excitement of this new light, it had become suddenly evident in a hundred ways, most of all evident in his sudden effort to conceal it from her.

So much that he had said, or had not said—those clipped sentences, bitten off short with a savage intensity that had often enough troubled and bewildered her, now found their right interpretation. He cared . . . but the bondage of the past still held.

And with that thought came reaction. The brief, quivering ecstasy, which had sent little fugitive thrills and currents racing through every nerve of her, died suddenly like a damped-out fire, as she realized all which that bondage implied.

It was possible he might never break the silence which he himself had decreed. From the very beginning he had recognized—and insisted upon—the fact that they two were only "ships that pass," and though now, for a little space, Fate had directed the course of each into the same channel, a year at most, would float them out again on to the big ocean of life where vessels signalled—and passed—each other. She must, in the ordinary course of events, return eventually to Reimsfeld, while Blaise remained in England. And that would be the end of it.

She knew the man's dogged pertinacity; he would hold to an idea or belief immovably if he conceived it right, no matter what the temptation to break away. And in the flood of light vouchsafed by Lady Anne's disclosure, she felt convinced that he had somehow come to regard the tragic happenings of the past as a standing betwixt him and any future happiness. Why, Jean could not altogether fathom, but she guessed that the dominant factor in the matter was probably an exaggerated consciousness of responsibility towards the death, and perhaps, too, a certain lingering tenderness, a subconscious feeling of loyalty to the dead woman, which urged him on to sacrifice of his own personal happiness as some kind of atonement.

Unless—and a swift spasm of pain shot through her, searing it away like a tongue of flame—unless Lady Anne had been altogether mistaken in her fixed belief that Blaise had not really cared for his wife but had only been carried away on the swift tide of passion—that tide which runs so fiercely and untrammelled in hot youth.

Jean had her black hour then, when she faced the fact that although her love was given, and although she tremulously believed it was returned, she would probably never know the supreme joy of utter certainty never heard the beloved's voice utter those words which hold all heaven for the woman who hears them.

But, through the darkness that closed about her, there gleamed a single thread of light—the light of her own bestowal of love. Even if she never knew, of a surety, that Blaise cared, even if—and here she shrank, but forced herself to face the possibility—sincerely even if she was utterly mistaken and he did not care for her in any other way save as a friend—his "little comrade"—still still there would remain always the golden gleam of love that has been given. For no one who loves can be quite unhappy.

CHAPTER XVII.

In the Rose Garden.

The chalcony of the spring skies had deepened into the glowing asphodel of early June—a deep, pulsating blue, tremulous with heat. On the sundial, the shadow's finger pointed to twelve o'clock, and the sleepy hush of noon hung over the rose-garden where Jean was gathering roses for the house.

"Can't I help?"
Burke's voice broke across the drowsy quiet so unexpectedly that she jumped, almost letting fall the scissors with which she was scientifically snipping the stems of the roses. She bestowed a small frown upon the head and shoulders appearing above the wooden gate on which he leaned.

"It's not very helpful to begin by giving one an electric shock," she complained. "How long have you been there?"

His attitude had a repose about it which suggested that he might have been standing there some time watching her.

"I don't know. But as I am here, may I come in?"

Without waiting for her answer, he unlatched the gate and came striding across the velvet greenness of the lawn.

Since the day when she had lunched at Willow Ferry, and learned, as she believed, to understand and make allowances for the bitterness which had so warped Judith's nature, her acquaintance with both brother and sister ripened rapidly into a friendly intimacy. But the fact that Burke's feelings towards her was something other, and much warmer than mere friendship, had failed to penetrate her consciousness.

It was patent enough to the looker-on, and probably Jean was the only one amongst the little coterie of intimate friends who had not realized what was impending.

It is not very often that a woman remains entirely oblivious of the small, unmistakable signs which go to indicate a man's attitude towards her. In Jean's case, however, her thoughts were so engrossed with the one man that, at the moment all other men occupied but a very shadowy relationship towards the realities of life as far as she was concerned.

So that she scarcely troubled to look up as Burke halted beside her.

Nerves A Complete Wreck Sat Up Half The Night

Mrs. John Ross, Bark Lake, Ont., writes:—"I was troubled so much with my nerves I was a complete wreck."

I could not do my work, and would have to sit up half the night on account of not being able to sleep.

One day a friend recommended Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I used one box and got relief. From time I had taken six boxes I was as well as ever."

but went on cutting her roses unconcernedly, merely observing:
"Idlers not allowed. You can make yourself useful by paring the thumbs off the stems." She gestured towards a basket which stood on the ground at her side, already overflowing with its scented burden of pink and white and crimson roses.

He glanced at the russet head bent studiously above a bush rose and there was a gleam, half angry, half amused, in his eyes. His fingers went uncertainly to his pocket, where reposed a serviceable knife, then suddenly he drew his hand sharply away, empty.

"No," he said, "I didn't come over to be useful this morning. I came over"—he spoke slowly, as though endeavoring to gain her attention—"on a quite different errand."

There was a vibration in his voice that might have warned her had she been less intent upon her task of wrestling with a refractory branch. As it was, she merely questioned absently:

"And what was the 'quite different' errand?"

The next moment she felt his hand close over both hers, gardening scissors and washleather gloves notwithstanding.

"Stop cutting those confounded flowers, and I'll tell you," he said roughly.

She looked up in astonishment, and, at last, a glimmering of what was coming dawned upon her. Even the blindest of women, the most preoccupied, must have read the expression of his eyes at that moment.

"Oh, no—no," she began hastily. "I must finish cutting the roses—really, Geoffrey."

She tried to release her hands, but he held them firmly.

"No," he said coolly. "You must finish cutting your flowers—at least, not now. You're going to listen to me."

He drew the scissors from her grasp, and they flashed like a fish in the sunbaked as he tossed them down on to the rose basket. Then, quite deliberately, he pulled off the loose gloves she was wearing and his big hands gripped themselves suddenly, closely, about her slight, bared ones.

"Geoffrey—"

Figures Are Astonishing

Great Britain Sacrificed Much In Effort To Help Rehabilitate Europe

Only now is the civilized world in a position to understand the magnitude of the sacrifice made without stint by Great Britain in its heroic and generous effort to assist in the rehabilitation of Europe. Although it was known in a general way that more had been done by that object than had been commonly supposed, it remained for Right Hon. Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, to reveal the figures. This he did the other day in the House of Commons.

The actual reductions made by Great Britain from the amounts disbursed by her on behalf of the various countries concerned were found to be these:

France, 62 per cent.; Italy, 86 per cent.; Rumania, 63½ per cent.; Portugal, 65½ per cent.; Greece, 68½ per cent.; and Yugoslavia, 67½ per cent.

As the Montreal Star observed: "These are astonishing figures. No wonder the Briton is bearing the heaviest burden of taxation in the world, who can cut his debtors' accounts in this fashion."

Health and Efficiency

Nation's Greatest Asset Is Well-Being Of Its Children

Greatest of all the assets of a nation is the health of the people. Health is the basis both of happiness and of efficiency. And to secure and safeguard the health of its citizens should be the first care of every Government. Most important of all is the health of the children. For physical well-being in childhood is the essential basis of physical well-being in adult life. It should, in any civilized community, be a matter of course, the young do not or discussion, that the physical conditions of school life are as perfect as possible.—Daily Herald, London, England.

A Remarkable Carving

A grain of rice, carved with infinite patience to represent a minute bust of Pope Pius XI, one of the most extraordinary of many extraordinary gifts, was made by the Mother Superior of the Franciscan Sisters of Mary, who have a large number of institutions all over the world. The bust, which is the work of a Chinese convert, is so tiny that it must be looked at through a lens.

HE COULDN'T READ FOR INDIGESTION

"For some years previous to 1922 I was subject to indigestion, with leadaches and thousands of stars sparkling in my eyes, which prevented me from reading. I decided to try Kruschen Salts. That was August, 1922, and I have taken a little more than six months of tea ever since. I now eat anything, and am entirely free from indigestion."—Mrs. A. J. Krukenberg.

Now let it be said quite definitely, that what Kruschen did for him, it will do for everybody else who suffers from indigestion as he did. The fact is that the "little daily dose" first stimulates the flow of gastric juices to digestion, and then ensures complete, regular, and unflinching elimination of all waste matter every day.

Soon after you start on Kruschen you will begin to feel the benefit. You will find to your satisfaction that you are able to enjoy your food without any distressing after-effects. And, as you persevere, you will see that the relief which Kruschen brings is a lasting relief.

FREE TRIAL OFFER

If you have never tried Kruschen—try it now at our expense. We have distributed a great many special "GIANT" packages which make it possible for you to prove our Kruschen Salts. Ask your druggist for the new "GIANT" 75c. This contains our regular 75c. bottle together with a special trial bottle sufficient for about one week. On the first trial bottle, put it to the test, and then, if you are not satisfied, Kruschen does everything we claim it to do. If you are, it will be good for you. Take it twice daily in still good as before. Take it 75c. immediately and without question. What could be better? Manufactured by Dr. J. D. Kruschen, Ltd., 1000 Bloor St. West, Toronto.

Distress In Australia

Report Denied That Large Numbers Are Returning To Old Country As Strayaways

The overseas settlement department described reports that British settlers in Australia were returning to Britain in large numbers as altogether as exaggerated, and added that the number returning in this manner was "comparatively negligible."

The department emphasized that the Government was doing everything possible to relieve distress among settlers, and had made no differentiation between them and native Australians. The British government's representative in New South Wales, the department said, had been instrumental in the formation of a British settlers' welfare center, which had done a great deal to relieve distress.

Other measures, it added, were being taken.

The worms that infest children from their birth are of two kinds, those thick and long in the stomach and those that are found in the intestines. The latter are the most destructive, for they eat away the walls of the intestines and if not interfered with work havoc there. Miller's Worm Powders dissolve both kinds and while expelling them from the system serve to repair the damage they have caused.

ACID STOMACH

The tremendous advantage that the invention of the rapid-fire gun gave to the defensive side in warfare was never much better illustrated than in the recent fighting around Shanghai. One man with a machine gun can do the work of a whole battalion, under certain circumstances. A bombardment that reduces the numbers of a defensive force to a tenth of their original strength is utterly useless if it leaves a few machine guns that can come into action as soon as the attacking wave gets under way. It was this unsuspected fact that made the World War battles so frightfully costly. The Japanese, evidently, are discovering it all over again. Until some way of coping with the machine gun is found, the offensive is paralyzed.

Aviators Have Adventures

Record Of Royal Air Force Makes Fascinating Reading.
For an hour during a recent meeting the British House of Commons was illumined with the romance of high adventure. Sir Philip Sassoon, Under-Secretary for Air, introduced the air estimates and they were no more recital of votes and types of aircraft. One saw the Royal Air Force opening up new routes, lending a helping hand in the world's desolate places.

A lost touring car of the Egyptian State Railway was discovered in the sand wastes of the Libyan desert. A friendly hand was given to a district commissioner in the collection of taxes from unwilling semi-nomadic tribes. A case of appendicitis was conveyed 500 miles across the desert from Dairut to Khartoum. Water and supplies were taken on an African trade expedition stranded north of Wadi Halfa with only a small bottle of water between its members.

A political agent on a tour of the Northwest frontier provinces of India—"back of beyond"—received his mail. An Italian aircraft force landed on the Somali coast was located and supplied with provisions. Rich members of an expedition operating in the hinterland of Aden were evacuated by air. And the Sultan's brother was conveyed from Ras-Al-Kaimah to Bahrain for eye trouble.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Alice Michells
FOR REMEMBRANCE

Space has not bereft me,
Still my love is near:
These are what she left me.
For remembrance dear:
All the little memories
That the inner knows,
Sussie's old treasures,
Pebbles of the road,
Foppies' satin dresses,
Stargleams through the night.
And the swift carresses
Of the wind in flight.

Thieving time can never
Steal her quiet away,
Still with dawning ever
Memories sweet and gay
Will come from my sleeping,
From my dreams of her,
Thoughts like sunbeams creeping,
Glad as wings at play.

Space has not bereft me,
Nor have time's feet winged;
Memories she has left me
In all lovely things.

Chance For The Men

British Educator Thinks They Should Do the Cooking

The world's standard of health would be improved at least 50 per cent. if all the cooking were done by men, according to Mrs. J. V. Rans, British educator.

"Men are natural-born epicures in the matter of food," she said in a recent address in London, "and for this reason the culinary art should be entrusted entirely to them. Besides, keeping men in the kitchen would increase the number of jobs in the household world for women, who are natural-born bargainers."

Of nothing may we be more sure than this; if we cannot sanctify our present lot, we could sanctify no other. Our heaven and our Almighty Father are there, or nowhere. The obstructions of that lot are given for us to heave away by the concurrent touch of a holy spirit and labour of strenuous will, its gloom for us to tint with some celestial light, its mysteries are for our worship, its sorrows for our trust, its perils for our courage, its temptations for our faith. Soldiers of the "Cross," it is not for us, but for our Leader and our Lord to cleanse the field. It is ours, taking the station which He assigns us, to make it a field of truth and honour, though it be a field of death.—James Martineau.

NEW INVENTION DOES AWAY WITH COOKING ODORS

Even fish and cauliflower bow down to Canpar Cookery Parchment

BETTER, CHEAPER AND EASIER COOKING

Delicious as cauliflower, cabbage and certain other vegetables are, they have imposed a heavy penalty on people who fearlessly cook them. Not to mention those who had to suffer the odor without enjoying the finished product. The same thing is equally true of fish.

Canpar Cookery Parchment, a very ingenious invention, does away with this annoying odor. While sealing out odors, it also retains flavor and food value. Cooking in Canpar actually parallels the famous French method of steaming and confining food and its flavor in the closed casserole.

You buy Canpar in a large envelope of handy-size sheets which may be heated, cut and used over and over again because they won't absorb odors. When boiling vegetables you simply wet the Canpar and make a bag similar to a pudding bag. If you steam them, you line the steamer with Canpar, arrange food and seasoning, and fold back corners of the Canpar to prevent steam from dripping back. You can actually cook three vegetables at the same time, and the flavors will not intermingle.

Steamed, or boiled, fish comes out firm, sealed and swimming in its own juice. No odors. No sticky steamer or casserole to clean up afterwards.

Line your roasting pan with Canpar, then the fat and juice can't burn. Meat is more succulent and there is no scouring or scraping of the pan afterwards.

Many women use Canpar for a dish cloth—strong, clean, and satisfactory, and doesn't spread lint.

You'll never be without Canpar once you start using it. It saves time and money. Many and unique book entitled "Leftovers" containing one hundred recipes as a bonus for your trouble.

Special Offer
Most grocers, druggists and department stores sell Canpar, but if you don't, just send the coupon and we'll give you a few and our unique book entitled "Leftovers" containing one hundred recipes as a bonus for your trouble.

VALUE OF A MUSICAL FESTIVAL

The benefits of a musical festival to a community are numerous and varied, and may be noted both directly and indirectly. A musical festival is usually a competition of vocal and instrumental talent. The vocal items may be rendered either by choirs or soloists, while the instrumental are solos or orchestration.

The first value noted would probably be the prestige lent to a community during and following the festival. The town in which it is being held will be regarded as the centre of the surrounding district and the community itself will be looked up to and respected by other sections for its progress along these intellectual lines.

The second benefit, I think, is derived from the additional trade. This is caused chiefly by the citizens of outlying districts being attracted to the community by the festival. Another manner in which this is brought about is by the necessity of a great deal of music in the competition. The newspapers and publishing companies are aided by the advertisements published previous to the event—because the demand for the programmes is great.

In this competition each little district and organization will unite its efforts to obtain first place in the competition. This will establish a feeling of good will and fellowship among the citizens, which is shown by the willing and unselfish donations given to purchase medals and shields as rewards for the best efforts.

The benefits to the competitors are very marked. Formerly they may not have considered their particular talents worth developing, but by some encouraging word, if not a reward from the adjudicator, they are inspired to develop it and very often make a success of it. The judge, usually a reliable one, advises and criticizes them and often gives very helpful hints which are of invaluable benefit to the competitors. At these informal gatherings they furthermore overcome any self-consciousness that they may feel on the stage, and learn to accept defeat as well as success graciously.

To all attending, the festival presents the very best of music and embeds in the minds of the public a true sense of values of good music. The influence it has on the people is such that it remains with them a long time afterwards, beautifying and enriching their lives.

A festival, then, would be found to give real benefits to a community in regard to prestige, trade, community spirit and the sense of values of music created in the minds of the people.—Prize Essay by Florence Stender, of Cranbrook high school.

COMMUNIST AGENTS FEEL EFFECTS OF HARD TIMES

London.—Several hundred communist agents are looking for work, according to Scotland Yard, because Moscow has drawn the purse strings tight.

Hard times are said to be the reason, but British officials are inclined to believe the action resulted from failure of communist propaganda in England.

The Yard's special branch has noticed recently that agents who used to dine in expensive restaurants after addressing open-air gatherings in Hyde Park, are now in shabby clothes and apparently without money. They said communist headquarters in Russia had discharged most of its English agents, who use to receive from $25 to $50 a week.

GEORGE COOTE, M.P.

SUGGESTS SCHEME

In reply to a request from Dr. Man- loe, Minister of Railways, for any constructive proposal to remedy the unemployment conditions of Canada, George Coote, M.P., for this riding, contributed a speech. This appears in Hansard.

First, taking issue with the Prime Minister that the duty of caring for the unemployed rests primarily with the municipalities, Mr. Coote pointed out that parliament had control of the vital economic policies which determine employment. Parliament has control of immigration, of tariffs, of banking, currency and credit. Municipalities and provinces are helpless in these matters.

So far as immigration is concerned, in the 16 months ending July 31, 1930, about 221,000 people were brought into Canada, 99,267 of whom were adult males. It was the federal government, carrying out its policy of immigration, which brought these people here, and under our policy many of these are now a charge on municipalities.

As regards tariffs both major parties agree that the tariff policy affects employment. Then why not frankly admit that unemployment is a federal matter, due primarily to policies enforced by the federal government. The best minds in the world today admit that the money policies which have been in force in various countries in the past few years are primarily the cause of unemployment, and certainly municipalities and provinces have no way of protecting themselves against money policies.

Municipalities, I understand, must pay at least one third of relief expenditures. One city, to protect itself, dare not give more relief than another. As a result, in some cities an unemployed man cannot get relief unless a resident there for three months. In Calgary, men coming there from other municipalities could not secure relief, except in begging from door to door.

Too much delay prevailed in authorizing relief work undertaken, which had to be passed by three different authorities. Much work was held up till late in fall or into the winter, and I do not think we got as good value for the money spent, as if the work had been arranged directly and expeditiously.

I suggest that all unemployed be registered, showing what kind of work they are fitted for. Each man in need of employment should be given a registration certificate. Two or three full meals should be provided until work is offered. A non-partisan examination representing all industries, including agriculture, should study the country's needs to see the employment in constructive work is provided to get value for money expended.

One particular work which I think might be undertaken without a great deal of survey is the construction of homes. There must be two million families in Canada, and it is safe to assume that one tenth have no decent homes to live in. I think we might well make a start with 50,000 homes which would give employment to the bulk of men now unemployed. There is great Canadian building material, many factories idle. There are lumber mills, cement mills and brick yards. And there is no doubt about the need of homes, both in cities and in the country.

For instance, here are housing conditions existing in Halifax as reported by the housing commission: one dark room, door only, occupied by three people, $10 per month; one room in cellar, seven occupants, $6 per month; seven rooms, 25 occupants $150 per month; two cellar rooms, 5 persons, $10 per month, etc. And I believe, Mr. Speaker, that such conditions can be duplicated in other cities of Canada.

How can we raise a decent, God-fearing, healthy population, such as we should have, if they are to be housed under such conditions.

What better way of giving employment could be created than in building homes for our people.

ing homes for our people.

Where will you get the money? you ask. Industry is already being taxed out of existence, and I would create a corporation and offer it with a few public-spirited citizens who would give their services for a few thousand dollars per year. When they began to build the houses they could issue bonds secured by mortgages on these homes. These bonds just as the bank brings bonds to the treasury board, and the board could advance dominion notes against the bonds, similar to bank procedure. The building corporation could then pay for materials and workmen's wages. The houses could be sold on easy terms, with a rate of interest not exceeding 1% would keep, about 2% per cent. And as payments came in, the money could be used to retire the dominion notes.

Montreal, Toronto, Halifax, would, I think, be glad to co-operate in working out such a plan.

In connection with this, a proposal, I would suggest also that a certain percentage of the wages be reserved for an unemployment fund to take care of the workmen next winter.

Let us in future endeavor not to do road work in the dead of winter. Let us put these men to work in spring and summer months and save from their wages something to take care of them in the winter.

ROSSBERRY URGES REDUCTION PHONE RATES

EDMONTON, Alta., March 28.—Reduction or elimination of the present reconnecting fee of $5 was urged by H. J. Montgomery, Liberal, Wetaskiwin, when estimates for the Alberta Telephone Department were before the legislature on Saturday. A plea for lower rural rates also was made by H. Bossenberry, Liberal, Pincher Creek.

Replying to the arguments, Hon. V. W. Smith, Minister of Telephones, showed that it would be impossible to pare these rates. He pointed out that rural rates were only 46 per cent of the cost of providing the services.

Mr. Montgomery, in urging lower telephone rates pointed out that on one line at Wetaskiwin where there were only four subscribers there were twenty farmers willing to take the service if the reconnecting fee were reduced. He pointed out if these were obtained, the revenue of the line would be greatly increased even with lower rates.

Hon. Mr. Smith said it would be fallacious to figure on a reduction in rates. If the rural rate was reduced to $1.75 it would not pay the interest on capital account,

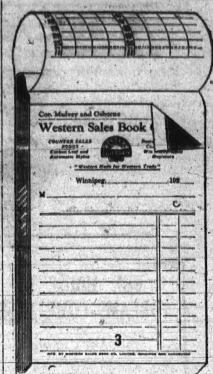

He could not see how they could expect a reduction when they were receiving service at less than half cost.

It was not a question of high rates, it was a question of the people being hard up. They could abandon rural service altogether and be better off. It was continued because it was a valuable service to the country residents, said the minister.

ANNOUNCING THE APPOINTMENT OF A NEW FORD DEALER

Red Trail Motors

WE TAKE PLEASURE in announcing a new Ford dealer in this territory. The appointment is in keeping with the established Ford policy of rendering thoroughly satisfactory service to Ford owners throughout all sections of Canada.

The Ford service policy is founded on the belief that a sale does not complete the transaction between us and the buyer but establishes a new obligation on us to see that the car gives good service.

We are as much interested in your economical operation of the car as you are in our economical manufacture of it.

Every Authorized Ford Dealer has pledged himself to the carrying out of this policy. Throughout the entire life of the car, the constant endeavor will be to help you get the greatest possible use over the longest period of time at a minimum of trouble and expense.

The mechanics of all Ford dealers are thoroughly trained in schools conducted by the Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited, and they use tools and machinery made specially for servicing the Ford car. When replacements are necessary, the parts used are identical in size and quality with those from which your car was originally assembled in the Ford factory. The charge for these parts is low, in accordance with the Ford policy. Labor on all ordinary maintenance operations is billed at a standard flat rate.

No matter what the job—large or small—you will find the Ford dealer equipped to handle it for you promptly, at a fair price, and in an intelligent, businesslike manner. The well-ordered cleanliness of the display room and shop and the consistent courtesy of all attendants will be especially appreciated by the lady driver.

KNIGHTS OF COLUM.

BUS OBSERVE FIF-
TIETH ANNIVERSARY

On March 20, some 600,000 Knights of Columbus in the United States, Canada, Philippine Islands, Panama, Cuba, Mexico, Puerto Rico, Newfoundland and Alaska celebrated the Golden Anniversary of the founding of the Order. Unfortunately, not one of the eleven original incorporators of the society could join in the anniversary observance. The last two survivors, William M. Geary and Cornelius T. Driscoll, of New Haven, Conn., died during 1931.

The story of the growth of the Knights of Columbus through fifty years constitutes a romantic and inspiring record. Back in 1882, Rev. Michael J. McGivney, curate at St. Mary's church, in New Haven, Conn., perceived the need for a fraternal organization that Catholics could join without conscientious difficulty. He realized that some Catholic organization should be created that combined solid fraternal benefits with the attractiveness of selected membership and secret initiation, yet which would not be oath bound but secret only on the promise of man to man, with this promise ever yielding to the authority of church and state. He talked over his idea with a group of men of his parish and at their third meeting, the name "Knights of Columbus" was selected. Petition for a charter was speedily granted and, on March 29, 1882, the Knights of Columbus became the first national fraternal organization to be incorporated in Connecticut. The original incorporator was Rev. Michael J. McGivney, Rev. Patrick Lawlor, Matthew C. O'Conor, Cornelius T. Driscoll, William M. Geary, Thomas M. Carroll, Bartholomew Healey and Michael Curran.

The advance of the Knights of Columbus beyond the borders of Connecticut was inevitable. Had it development at this stage been in hands less capable of controlling the action of the new machinery, the Order might have suffered from ill considered and too rapid expansion. But the standard of membership was rigidly maintained. By the early spring of 1892, councils had been instituted in more than sixty cities and towns of Connecticut and Rhode Island, the membership exceeded 6,000 and the Order's existence as a factor in American life was well established.

Father McGivney conceived the Order as a fraternal benefit society and during the first ten years non-insurance members were accepted. In 1892, the Supreme Knight recommended that associate membership be admitted and his recommendation was adopted. This was considered a radical move at the time but it was destined greatly to enhance the Order's power. By 1904 only five states of the Union were without councils of the Knights of Columbus and cities in these soon applied for and received charters. Already represented in Canada, the society now spread into the Philippine Islands, Mexico, Panama, Cuba, Puerto Rico and Alaska.

Today, with a membership of 600,000 in more than 2,500 councils, the Order has reached an eminence undreamed of by its founders. In ascribing this growth to its principle cause, the need of a society for Catholics that could offer social advantages heightened by a background of practical religion, we must not lose sight of the enormous amount of human energy required to build up the organization to international magnitude, achieving results unprecedented in the history of American fraternal societies.

The Knights of Columbus was among the first to answer the appeal of the President of the United States for emergency relief for the stricken people of Japan, donating twenty-five thousand dollars; it was among the first to offer relief to the sufferers of San Francisco disaster; it helped the flood-sufferers of Colorado; Kansas, Ohio and Texas; the fire sufferers of Chelsea, Salem, Ontario and Northern Minnesota; the victims of the calamity at Halifax; it has assisted victims of destructive storms in Florida, Cuba, Eastern Maryland, St. Louis and Poplar Bluff, Missouri, Rock Springs, Texas, and Newfoundland. Eight thousand dollars was expended for hurricane relief work in Florida, and five thousand dollars in Cuba, in 1926. In 1927, fifty thousand dollars was given for Mississippi flood relief, and five thousand dollars for New England flood relief. In 1928, eleven thousand dollars was given for hurricane relief in Puerto Rico and Florida. In 1930, five thousand dollars was given for relief work in Santo Domingo, following the destructive hurricane that visited that island republic. The Order also carried on relief work in the drought areas, and for the past two years has co-operated with the President's Organization for Employment, during his first year finding forty-three thousand jobs for the unemployed. Wherever there has been any great public calamity the Knights of Columbus has been among the first to offer practical, substantial assistance to all sufferers.

Education has always occupied a prominent position in the activities of the Knights of Columbus. During the earlier years of its history, its educational work was exclusively in the hands of state and subordinate councils, and consisted of lectures, courses, the establishment of libraries in colleges, the placing of books in libraries, and other educational activities. Mention might here be made of munificent educational endowments made by many state councils of the Order. Also of that splendid educational contribution of Terra Nova Council, Newfoundland, which took the form of a completely equipped twelve-room modern school building with accommodation for four hundred and eighty pupils, erected as a memorial to members of the Council who fell in the war, and presented by the Council to the Archdiocese of Newfoundland.

At the convention in 1921 it was voted to raise an endowment fund of one million dollars for welfare work in Rome, in response to the request of the Holy Father. This endowment fund has been raised, and in addition hereto playgrounds and recreational facilities, representing a capital investment of more than five hundred thousand dollars, have been provided.

AN EMERGENCY

GUARD OF HONOR

An interesting inside story of the play by a boy scout guard of honor is told by President D. F. Trirkshanks, of the Minto Skating Club, of Ottawa. The occasion was his last visit of Viscount and Lady Villington to the annual skating carnival, the "Minto Follies," accompanied by distinguished members of the diplomatic corps and several provincial lieutenants-governor.

To facilitate the approach of the party to the vice-regal box, a strip of carpet had been placed upon the ice. A few minutes before the arrival of the guests, the director, on a final tour of inspection, stepped upon the carpet. It slipped under him. Immediately came visions of catastrophe, His Excellency, or Her Excellency, or the Japanese Consul General, or the U.S. Minister—possibly even the whole distinguished party in a heap on the ice! And even broken bones.

The director thought rapidly. Smartly uniformed scouts were scattered about the auditorium on various duties.

Hastily he called them together. Quickly he explained, and placed them at intervals along the carpet, each boy's toes firmly clamping the carpet-edge to the ice.

Their Excellencies and guests passed through the erect line of scouts, smilingly appreciative of the youthful guard of honor, and reached their box in safety.

ALBERTA'S BUDGET ADOPTED

EDMONTON, March 28.—Alberta's budget of $23,033,572 for the next fiscal year was adopted by the legislature on Saturday.

There is a reduction of nearly $4,000,000 compared with last year, when the total estimate passed was $27,332,369. In the year previous, the total was $30,747,704.

The total outlay on income account for the next fiscal year is $16,773,144; on the revenue side, $16,822,144 is estimated, which leaves a surplus amounting to $149,203, if the returns measure up to expectation; and expenditures are no heavier than what the government anticipates.

Payments on capital account are estimated at $2,225,177, compared with $923,100 for receipts. This shows capital borrowings estimated at $1,302,077, while in addition there is $365,000 for the Alberta government telephones.

Income account of the Alberta government telephones shows a total expenditure of $3,770,250, with revenue estimated at $3,770,250, or an expected deficit of $600,000.

A fine steel piano wire runs now 124 miles from Newfoundland to the Azores. This is not to provide the marmalade with strings for their harps, but to measure exactly the distance between the two points. A cable was laid recently and it was impossible to otherwise determine the precise distance travelled by the cable-laying ship.

Travellers aboard the Canadian Pacific Railway's crack summer flyer, the Trans-Canada Limited, will be surprised this year to find colourful upholstery, green tiled bathrooms, sofas, settees, a glassed-in conservatory and other unusual features. Special sleeping, dining, and lounge-solarium cars have been designed and built at the company's Montreal Angus shops for this deluxe trans-continental train, which will be one of the fastest and finest long distance trains in the world.

Construction of the 18-storey Marine Building on the corner of Burrard and Hastings streets, in Vancouver, has begun. When completed this will be the tallest building west of Toronto, where the great building, the new Royal York Hotel, of the C. P. R., is 23 storeys in height.

A monument to one of the builders of Canada is planned for Vancouver. Sir William Van Horne, first general manager and second president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, was responsible for the selection of Vancouver as the western terminus for the trans-continental line; a decision that resulted in the growth and prosperity of Canada's second greatest asset; and the citizens of the city propose to commemorate his foresight.

Every year the Canadian Pacific spends about $2,000,000 in advertising its services and Canada's industrial and tourist attractions throughout the world.

In view of the present prosperity of Canada and of the Canadian Pacific, it is amusing to recall the recent publication in London Truth over forty-five years ago. "The Canadian Pacific Railway," it runs, "has begun to launch its bonds. This railway, if it is ever finished, will run through a country frost-bound for seven or eight months of the year, and will connect with the eastern part of the Dominion a province which embraces about as forbidding country as any on the face of the earth. British Columbia is a barren, cold mountain country that is not worth keeping. It would never have been inhabited at all unless by trappers of the Hudson Bay Company had 'gold fever' not taken a part of adventure there. Fifty railroads would not galvanize it into prosperity. The much-touted Manitoba settlement will not hold out many years. The people who have gone there cannot stand the coldness of the winters. Men and cattle are frozen to death in numbers. It would astonish the intending settler if he knew and those who are killed outright are often married for life by frostbites."

WHISTLING VS. SMOKING

During the recent newspaper "whistling nuisance" debate, Lord Baden-Powell confessed to being one. "Carrying out the Scout Law," he said, "when angry, or in difficulty I whistle, and likewise when I am particularly enjoying life and feeling upish. Also for me whistling provides a substitute for smoking, for, like a pipe, it gives satisfaction to me and annoyance to everybody else!"

Today will witness the passing out of the Alberta Provincial Police Force and the return of the Redcoats will be seen tomorrow throughout this province. No word has yet been announced of the new personnel of the Blairmore detachment.

COWLEY HAPPENINGS

A number of local folks are attending the Crow's Nest Pass Musical Festival at Blainmore.

A pleasant time was spent at a whist drive, held in the Masonic hall on Wednesday night, when prizes were won by Mrs. I. Christie, ladies' first; Mrs. George Porter, consolation; Dick Alexander, gent's first; Stanley Snyder, consolation. Mrs. M. A. Murphy and Mrs. F. A. Tustian were hostesses for the evening, with M. A. Murphy acting as master of ceremonies.

Miss Clare Bundy is visiting friends in Calgary this week.

Miss Marion Morrison is spending a few days visiting friends at Frank. Miss Irene Wells and brother Alister, of Bellevue, are paying a week's visit to their aunt, Mrs. Robert Littleton.

Mrs. Elsie Duffield has returned from a visit with friends at Spring Ridge.

Miss Barbara Bundy is paying her cousins at Erickson, B.C., a visit this week.

Miss Jean Morrison, teacher of the Cowley Junior school, is attending the teachers' convention at Calgary.

Several inches of snow fell over the district during the week, leaving only a small portion of sunshine. In looking back, this has been the most wintry month of March that we can remember for over thirty years.

Mr. Dodge, civil engineer, of Coleman, was here on Friday slizing up prospects of a new water system for the village.

The village folk are much interested in reading the Easter edition of the Cowley School Enterprise this week.

Mrs. Robert Littleton entertained the ladies of the Women's Institute at their regular monthly meeting at her home on Thursday evening.

Miss Martha Tustian has gone to Calgary on a visit, while Bradford Tustian is also visiting there.

Masters Gordon Swart and Lloyd Morrison are competing in violin at the musical festival at Blainmore.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Day, of Tennessee district, accompanied by Mrs. A. G. Swart, have returned from a visit to Lethbridge. They made the trip by motor.

The Dramatic Society of Olin Creek School district held a successful concert here on Friday night.

Miss Nellie McWilliams, principal of the Cowley school, spent the Easter holidays with her mother at the ranch home in Chapel Rock district.

Mr. Lewis Kaye and sons are moving to their ranch, north of Lundbrock, around April 1st, after occupying the old J. G. Swinney place, west of town, for a few years. Mr. Maisonneuve and family, of Picture Butte, are taking the Swinney place over and will move into it the early part of April.

Mrs. A. S. Donald entertained the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Anglican church at their home on Tuesday evening.

Miss Phyllis Porter, teacher of Tanner school, and Miss Winifred Porter, teacher of Heath Creek school, are attending the teachers' convention at Calgary.

David Murphy and Fred Wilton were Friday visitors to Blainmore.

The Cowley Athletic Club will hold a dance on April the fifteenth. Proceeds will go toward making tennis courts.

Mr. Arthur Brockwell, who recently purchased the old Jack Shaw place on the North Fork river, nine miles out of town, will move his family there the latter part of April, where they will engage in mixed farming.

Gophers, which made their first appearance during last week, are presenting themselves as targets.

A concert, in aid of the village churches, will be held in the I.O.O.F. hall on the evening of April the 21st.

CORBIN HAPPENINGS

A meeting of the East Kootenay Mine Safety Association was held on Tuesday, March 22nd, in the Corbin school building. A large attendance, including H. Miard, mine inspector, president; James Taylor, vice-president; E. L. Warburton, superintendent, and James McDonald, mine inspector. The meeting opened with an address by Mr. Taylor, who occupied the chair, opening a discussion on the formation of a local branch in Corbin.

Mr. Warburton addressed the meeting, pointing out the advantages of a local branch. Meetings had previously been held in Fernie, and weather conditions did not permit a regular attendance from the Corbin members. He also pointed out the benefits of the association, and how their lectures and discussions trended towards the reduction of mine accidents.

From a mine-safety point of view, he particularly addressed the fire bosses, whom he considered the most important officials in the mine, and advised that First Aid men should act as policemen in an attempt to reduce the number of mine accidents.

Mr. Miard read a very interesting paper on "Toxic Gases met in a Mine." Time did not permit the paper being finished, and the meeting was unanimous in hoping Mr. Miard would in the near future continue his lecture.

A short discussion on the paper followed, and some interesting points were brought forward for discussion. Mr. McDonald then addressed the meeting, and in his speech hoped the meeting would be a huge success.

A vote of thanks was moved by Mr. Warburton to Mr. Miard, who replied that he hoped to be present at the next meeting.

A very enjoyable bridge drive, sponsored by the Pythian Sisters, was held in the B. & B. hall on Tuesday night, March 22nd. Honors went to Miss H. Whitcomb and Mr. C. Petrie.

Consolation awards were given to Mrs. James Barnes and Mr. R. Lilly. The many friends of Mrs. A. Cartledge gathered at the home of Mrs. R. Elliot on Wednesday evening last, to wish her farewell and every success in her new home.

Mrs. S. Knight, on behalf of the gathering, presented Mrs. Cartledge with a beautiful handbag. Seven tables of bridge were arranged, at which Mrs. W. Almond took first prize and Mrs. P. Elms the consolation.

Miss May and Masters Dennis Parsons and Roy Taylor, who are attending the Fernie high school, arrived home to spend the Easter vacation with their parents.

Masters Tommy Ferryman, Harry Knight, C. Barattelli and Billy Worobec arrived home from Calgary, where they are attending the Institute of Technology and Art, to spend the Easter holidays with their parents.

Walter Elms, who is teaching in the Windermere district, arrived in town to renew acquaintances during the Easter holidays.

Mrs. A. Cartledge and small daughter Mazie left for Vancouver on Friday last, where Mrs. Cartledge will join her husband, who preceded her to the coast city a short time ago.

E. L. Warburton, chairman of the school board, paid a visit to the school on Thursday afternoon and gave a short talk in the junior room.

The standing of the pupils in the senior room, with Miss S. G. Timaeus, principal, as teacher, for the month of March is as follows: Grade VIII.—P. Gibson, M. Worobec, P. Regier, B. Elliot, R. Hoffman; Grade VII.—J. Queen, N. Petrunick, J. Worobec, N. Jackson, E. Barnes, M.

Kolinski, B. Barnes, I. Kowal; Grade VI.—B. Taylor, A. Hoffman, B. Greig, A. Waddington, E. Tustian. Grade V.—F. Kolinski, D. Venables, J. Greig, D. Halle, P. Shepherd, M. Atkinson, B. Barnes, W. Dorman, B. Roberts, A. Coates. Grade V.b.—F. Coates, B. Tustian.

WHERE THE NUTS COME FROM

Nuts of all kinds imported into Canada in the last fiscal year were valued at $3,998,144. Shelled walnuts comprised the principal item, totalling 4,806,862 pounds, valued at $1,003,151. Of this total two and a half million pounds were brought in from China and nearly two million pounds from France. The next most valuable import was of green peanuts, shelled or not, amounting to 25,329,421 pounds, valued at $71,216. These came chiefly from China. Imports in the last fiscal year totalling 21,091,728 pounds valued at $729,108. Spain furnishes most of the almond nuts imported. Out of a total of almonds, not shelled, imported in the last fiscal year amounting to 931,556 pounds, valued at $97,906, Spain supplied 829,928 pounds, valued at $84,841; and out of a total of 1,732,343 pounds of shelled almonds, valued at $441,181, Spain supplied 1,500,327 pounds, valued at $361,854.

MUST ADHERE TO TERMS OF THE IRISH TREATY

London, England.—Great Britain's official reply to communication from the Irish Free State Government, at Eamon de Valera, giving notice that the Free State intended abolishing the oath of allegiance to the British Crown, was forwarded to Dublin, Ireland.

The reply lays down the principle that the oath of allegiance is an integral part of the Anglo-Irish treaty under which the Free State was constituted ten years ago.

The communication from the Free State failed to mention the question of land annuities, it was pointed out, but on this point the British view was made clear in a speech in the House of Commons by J. H. Thomas, secretary for the Dominions, in which he said the Free State Government is "bound by law and honor" to continue payment of the annuities to the British treasury.

Mr. de Valera has been quoted several times as saying he and his government intended to withhold payment of the annuities, amounting to $3,000,000 and arising out of loans to Irish tenants enabling them to obtain freedom of their lands prior to the formation of the Free State. Thus on both points, the two governments have taken opposite views. The next move lies with Mr. de Valera's government.

Meanwhile both the Irish and the Irish senate have risen for the Easter recess. The bill will not resume sessions until April 20. The senate has adjourned indefinitely. It therefore, Mr. de Valera intends to go ahead earlier with a bill abolishing the oath of allegiance, the bill will have to be summoned specially.

A further point arose whether a national referendum was not also necessary, if Mr. de Valera intends to proceed by way of constitutional amendment. Article 80 of the Irish Free State constitution recognizes the right of the oireachtas (Free State Parliament) to amend the constitution "within the terms of the scheduled treaty" but no such amendment, if passed eight years after the coming into effect of the constitution, may become law unless approved by a referendum of the people.

As Mr. Thomas spoke in the House of Commons Wednesday, March 23, he undoubtedly had the support of an overwhelming majority of the members.

At the same time possibility of negotiation has not been ruled out. In this connection likelihood of reference of the dispute to the Empire tribunal created by the last Imperial conference was widely discussed. The tribunal, the specific purpose of which is solution of disputes between members of the British Commonwealth of nations, proceeds by voluntary arbitration on an ad hoc basis. It consists of five members, four of whom are chosen by parties to the dispute. These four elect a chairman, whose selection is limited among citizens of the British Commonwealth.

The present dispute, if referred to the tribunal, would be its first case.

No Irregularities

St. John's, Nfld.—As a result of his investigation into charges made by Hon. The governor's report was read in the House of Assembly.

London, Eng.—Leave to introduce a bill for the legalizing of lotteries for charitable, scientific and artistic purposes, or for any public improvement, was granted in the House of Commons to Sir William Davidson, Conservative member, by a vote of 178 to 123.

To Build Fast Boat

New York, N.Y.—A water speed of 120 miles an hour, perhaps more, was foreseen by Gar Wood, Detroit speed boat manufacturer and pilot, in announcing construction of a new Miss America to defend the Harmsworth International trophy this summer, on the Detroit River.

To Study Wheat Rust

Ottawa, Ont.—The annual meeting of the National Research Council's Committee on field crop diseases will be held in Winnipeg, April 14 and 15, it was announced here. The committee is interested primarily in the control of wheat rust.

Would Form Central Bureau

Ontario Lines Up With Western Provinces On Insurance Bill

Toronto, Ont.—Formation of a central bureau, established and supported by the authority of provincial statutes, to which all insurance companies carrying out business in the several provinces would be required to submit returns and demonstrate their solvency, was suggested in the legislature by Hon. W. H. Price, Attorney-General, in introducing his insurance bill.

It is a bill similar to those passed by Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia, and is practically a warning to the Dominion government to keep hands off insurance companies.

With establishment of a central bureau, reports would be submitted to the provincial insurance departments for their guidance in the issuance of renewal licenses to transact business, he thought.

The bill submitted by Mr. Price is intended to permit the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council to pass regulations governing insurance, pending the settlement of a constitutional issue with the Federal Government.

Alberta Land Settlement

Government Ready To Assist In Placing Unemployed On Farms

Edmonton, Alberta.—The Alberta Government is ready to join in a sound proposal for the placing of unemployed on farms, and soon after prorogation of the Alberta legislature steps along this line likely will be taken.

The announcement was made in the Alberta Legislature by Premier J. E. Brownlee in answer to a question from Hector Lang, Liberal, Medicine Hat, who asked what progress was being made in land settlement endeavoring to aid jobless.

Premier Brownlee stated the government had not yet heard to what extent the Dominion Government was prepared to go in support of land settlement by unemployed, nor what proportion of the cost the federal administration would bear.

Manitoba and Saskatchewan were also interested in the scheme, said the premier, and it was hoped a definite agreement would be effected shortly after the close of the present session.

Bisley Shoot In July

No Reduction In Prize List Unless Absolutely Necessary

London, Eng.—The meeting of the National Rifle Association at Bisley Camp, which annually brings the crack riflemen of the Empire to England, is scheduled for July 4 to July 16 next at a meeting of the N.R.A. Council.

Colonel Lord Cottesloe, chairman, presiding at the meeting, said that owing to shrinkage in funds available for the king's trophy and Imperial challenge shields competition, it had been found necessary to discontinue some of the replicas and ammunition grants, to raise the standard for honor or medals and to reduce them in weight.

The council had no intention of reducing the prize list for the great Empire meeting at Bisley this coming summer unless it was absolutely compulsory, he added.

Rescue At Sea

Fishermen Saved After Drifting In Small Boat For Eight Days

Miami, Fla.—Eight days drifting far at sea in a small and crippled fishing boat, food gone, throats parched for lack of water—and then when hope had all but fled, a rag soaked in gasoline and ignited by sparks from a storage battery brought rescue.

Those were the experiences related here by Frank Ozenfolt and his negro companion, George Maxey. They were brought to Miami by a coastguard cutter which transferred them from the rescue ship "Cuyampa," of the United Fruit Company.

They were fishing near Fowey Rock March 12, and the crankshaft of their motor broke. The boat began drifting and soon thereafter sprang leaks. It was kept afloat by unceasing work at the pumps.

C.N.R. Steamship Service

Montreal, Que.—The services to Australia and New Zealand by the Canadian National steamships freight services will be separated during the spring and summer of 1935, to provide a monthly service to and from each country, the company has announced. More frequent departures for the West Indies are also announced. Provision is made for a fortnightly service of a monthly service between the Atlantic and Pacific coasts, if warranted.

Back To The Land

Many Inquiries Received Regarding Settlement Plan In Saskatchewan

Saskatoon, Sask.—Dozens of inquiries with respect to the proposed provincial land settlement scheme whereby unemployed would be placed on farms have been received by Mayor J. E. Underwood in the last few days.

"The majority who are enquiring appear to be of the type who would most likely make good under such a scheme," declared the mayor when interviewed. "Many have had farm experience."

Council will not likely take any definite action with respect to the settlement proposal until after a report setting out details of the scheme, has been received from Premier J. T. M. Anderson.

Under the suggested arrangement the city would be required, to contribute $100 to each new settler sent from such municipality, the provincial authorities providing an additional $200.

Sailors Quell Riot

Boat Crew From Canadian Destroyer "Champlain" Preserves Order In Trinidad

Port of Spain, Trinidad.—A boat crew from the Canadian destroyer "Champlain" landed in the harbor here and quelled fierce rioting between sailors from the Danish motorship "Stensby" and Trinidad stevedores.

About 35 stevedores were loading sugar into the holds of the "Stensby" when a dispute arose over the distribution of ship bread among them. Immediately fighting broke out between members of the vessel's crew and the resentful stevedores. Two Danes were seriously wounded and there was much bloodshed.

DEBT HARASSED FARMERS TO HAVE ASSISTANCE

Winnipeg, Man.—Inquiry into different schemes of debt adjustment to enable debt-harassed farmers to remain on their lands will be made by the agriculture committee of the Manitoba Legislature. This was decided when the legislature passed a resolution ordering the investigation. Farmers, creditors, economists, agricultural professors will be asked to appear before the committee.

Two bills relating to debt adjustment are before the legislature, sponsored by W. J. Major, Attorney-General. One of them would enable a debtor threatened with garnishment or seizure to file a statement of his debts with the county court. The clerk of that court would be empowered to take all circumstances into consideration and specify the amount the debtor should pay into court monthly to be advanced to his creditors. The bill applies to cases where total debts do not exceed $800.

Another bill to amend the Debt Adjustment act applies to persons who have been engaged in farming and have been forced to retire after renting their farms. The debt adjustment commissioner would be authorized to issue certificates to prevent seizure in cases where such people are entirely dependent on revenue from their land.

THE MOTHERLAND'S CHOICE FOR THE IMPERIAL CONFERENCE

Above are the six members of the British Government who will represent the Motherland at the Imperial Economic Conference which takes place at Ottawa on July 18. They are, top, left to right: Neville Chamberlain, British Chancellor of the Exchequer. Below, left to right: Lord Halifax, Sir Walter R. B. D. Thomas, J. H. Thomas, and Sir Philip Cunliffe-Lister, President of the British Board of Trade.

DISCUSSES WAR DEBTS

DAVID LLOYD GEORGE

In a brilliant book, "The Truth About Reparations and War Debts," the wartime premier considers that Great Britain has been generous, but that France and the United States have not played the game with war debts and reparations.

Further Hardships

For Chinese People

Famine and Epidemic of Snailpox Add To Distress Shanghai, China.—Disease and famine are placing further hardships on the people of China.

As a result of the crowding of refugees during the hostilities at Shanghai an epidemic of snailpox is now sweeping the Orient, according to Dr. Wu Lein-Teh, director of the Chinese maritime quarantine service. Sir John Hope-Simpson, British director of the China Famine Commission, said at the same time famine conditions had again reached such a pass in some parts of the country that the people were eating the bark of trees, the chaff of threshed grain and weeds, in order to ward off starvation.

All steamers entering and departing from Shanghai now are required to take special precautions. One of its victims in recent days was E. Koe Lin, French Consul-General. Foreigners are particularly susceptible to the form of snailpox now prevalent.

Miraculous Escapes

Fate Played Weird Role In Saving Lives Of Street Car Operators Calgary, Alberta.—Pain has played its weird role in the form of a ticket package and a steel badge in saving the lives of two Calgary street car operators.

A year ago a bandit shot at John Macdonald in an attempt to dup a street car. The bullet hit the conductor's steel badge on the front of his cap, preventing a fatal head wound.

Recently a gunman's bullet struck Samuel Entery in the chest during an attempted street car robbery. The bullet lodged in the abdomen after it had been deflected from its course into the man's heart by striking a ticket package in his breast pocket.

Granted An Audience

London, England.—His Majesty granted an audience at Buckingham Palace to Sir George Perley, Minister without portfolio in the Canadian government and leader of the Canadian delegation to the world disarmament conference at Geneva.

Dr. Tory To Give Evidence

President Of Research Council To Be Called As Witness

Ottawa, Ont.—Dr. H. M. Tory, president of the National Research Council, will be called as a witness by the House of Commons committee on civil service. It was decided, Chairman J. Earl Lawrence (Cons., York West) read a letter from Dr. Tory, who took exception to some statements made before the committee by officers of the civil service commission, one of whom, Commissioner Newton M. MacTavish, had suggested that the research council should come under the civil service commission.

Dr. Tory declared that, contrary to expressed opinions before the committee, the administrative offices of the research council received salaries in many cases lower than those paid employees in similar classes of work in the civil service. The professional workers were paid in accordance with the recommendations of the Beatty Commission report of 1930.

Appointments were not made by Dr. Tory personally, the letter stated, but by the research council as a whole, and professional appointments were made only after their qualifications had been examined by the highest authorities.

Storm Sweeps Southern States

Two Hundred and Seventy-Five People Lose Lives In Hurricane

Birmingham, Ala.—Two hundred and seventy-five persons were killed, hundreds of others injured and made homeless, and unestimated damage wrought by a series of tornadoes that ripped into five southern states.

Alabama bore the brunt of the storm, one of the south's major disasters. Here 220 persons lost their lives when the howling winds blew down their homes in two score communities.

Thirty-four were killed in Georgia, 17 in Tennessee, two in Kentucky and two in South Carolina.

Paid Visit To Siam

Mr. and Mrs. Butchart, Of Sunken Garden Fane, Entertained By Siamese Rulers

Victoria, B.C.—Mr. and Mrs. Butchart, whose sunken garden at Benvenuto, near here, are famous, returned home from Siam.

They were guests last month of King Prajadhipok, and Queen Rangsi of Siam, and have come back greatly impressed with the hospitality of the Siamese people. State functions were held in their homes.

The visit to Siam was made at the invitation of the Siamese rulers who last October were entertained at Benvenuto.

SAYS DOMINION HAS UNLIMITED GASOLINE SUPPLY

Ottawa, Ont.—Attention of the committee of the House of Commons investigating the alleged high prices of gasoline in Canada was called to the presence along the Athabasca River, north of Edmonton, of large deposits of tar sands which A. U. G. Bury (Cons., Edmonton East), declared contained "sufficient gasoline to supply the needs of the whole world for hundreds of years."

In suggesting the committee investigate, Mr. Bury advised hearing of our investigating the scheme. The committee agreed.

John McNeill, director of sales, employee of Imperial Oil for 26 years, was called to testify as to the cost of distribution of products throughout Canada. Fundamental difference in gasoline prices was caused by varying freight charges. Hamilton was the lowest rate "zone" in Canada, and prices elsewhere in Canada would be higher, depending on the increased freight haul from the oil fields in the southern states.

SAYS WATERWAY SHOULD BE BUILT BY THE DOMINION

Toronto, Ont.—R. J. Cronie, publisher of the Vancouver Sun, is in favor of the St. Lawrence waterway, but only if built and owned by Canada. In a published statement here he says: "May I ask the question of eastern Canadians, are you satisfied to allow the United States to come with their American money and build a water highway through Canada? Those who are not satisfied, it seems to me, should get busy at Ottawa before it is too late."

"An incident happened last week that will bear repeating because it brought home to me as it will bring home to many others just what we Canadians are going to be up against when we part with our sovereign rights to an outside nation and allow them to come into Canada and spend their money."

"Speaking with an American friend in Montreal the other day, he sympathized with me for the financial conditions in Canada as reflected by the discount of the Canadian dollar. He then spoke of the waterways treaty being prepared by Washington and Ottawa and of the $150,000,000 to $200,000,000 that the United States was going to spend on building a canal through Canada. Uncle Sam had to put up the long end of the money, etc., etc." This innocent casual conversation started me thinking.

"The St. Lawrence waterway is a project that I have always been glad to support. It will mean ocean transportation to Canadians and Americans, to people who live in Toronto, Chicago, and the Great Lakes territory."

"If there is any way possible in which Canada can herself build that waterway, it would be much better to do so and recoup herself by charging tolls. If Canada cannot finance the proposition now, it would be far better to wait."

"This is a day and age of co-operation when neighbors and nations must increasingly work together, but I can sense in this joint waterway through Canada a producer of embarrassment and irritation to Canadians that had better be avoided. Rather than have an American or any other outside nation put in a position to tell us they own the waterway through our country, I would make any sacrifice to have my government do its financing. Canada now has before her what happened in Manchuria when China gave Japan the right to build a railway through her territory, and the day that America opens a course through Canada is certain to bring a conflict of sovereignty."

"Canadians enjoy a very friendly relationship with the United States. How long will that relationship remain friendly if subjected to the possible irritation of this waterway treaty?"

"For my part I want to say here and now that if the St. Lawrence waterway canal is to be built, Canadians must build it and Canadians must own it."

Found Guilty Of Rioting

Mrs. Annie Buller and Sam Scarlett Receive Jail Sentences

Estevan, Sask.—Found guilty of rioting by a King's Bench court jury, Mrs. Annie Buller, of Toronto, was sentenced by Mr. Justice H. Y. MacDonald to serve one year in Battleford jail at hard labor.

She was also fined $500, in default of which she will serve an extra term of six months. Sam Scarlett, Saskatoon, declared guilty on the same charge was sentenced to one year in Regina jail and was fined $100, with another six months in default of payment. Hard labor was omitted from his sentence in view of his physical condition after representations had been made for leniency in his behalf by Wilfred Hoffmann, who, with Frank Cunningham, of Regina, conducted the defence.

To Study Effect Of Duties

London, England.—The British government press is watching the working out of the present general import duties before embarking on further fiscal legislation, said Walter Runciman, president of the Board of Trade, when he was urged by Lord Scone, minister for industry, to institute extensive "anti-dumping" measures.

Mr. Roger Babin has made a test of the rival advantages of publicity through the newspaper and by means of radio broadcasting. He appropriated $5,000 for the advertising of his agency; half to be spent on newspaper publicity and half on broadcasting. The radio publicity brought him fourteen replies; that through the newspapers resulted in 4,000 requests for information. The comparison is an illuminating one.

James Dunn and Sally Eilers, after their triumphs in "Bad Girl," the names of these meteoric youngsters is a guarantee of good entertainment—particularly when the picture is as interesting as "Dance Team," which opens tonight at Cole's theatre, is said to be. The story of a pair of ambitious "hoofers" who yearn for the glitter and adulation of Broadway, only to find the emptiness behind the glitter, "Dance Team" has much of the simplicity and human interest of the earlier Dunn-Eilers vehicles. Sidney Lanfield's direction keeps the action moving at a fast pace, and excellent work is done by a supporting cast that includes Edward Crandall, Nora Lane, Harry Beresford and Ralph Morgan. Edwin Burke wrote the screen play.
